次の対話文を読んで、1 から 5 までの問いに答えなさい。

Judy : Look! There's an interesting cat figure over there. It is very cute.

Ken : It's a "Maneki-neko."

Judy : A "Maneki-neko"? (I)

Ken : "Maneki" means beckoning, and "neko" means a cat, as you know. So it's a beckoning cat. It's very popular in Japan, especially for restaurants or shops.

Judy : Why?

Ken : People think that a "Maneki-neko" has the power to bring them good luck and money. It's a lucky charm for business.

Judy : (II) Is the pose always like this?

Ken : Yes, it is. Its right front "hand" is at the right side of its head. It's a pose of beckoning good luck. People believe that cats have some power of magic.

Judy : Yes, I've heard ① that before.

Ken : In the case of the "Maneki-neko," people believe the cat will make us rich and happy.

Judy : I think I understand that, because the pose looks so (②).

Ken : Yes. We usually put one on the shelf at the entrance of our home.

Judy : That means good luck will come through the entrance, doesn't it?

Ken : That's right.

Judy : Now, I want to get one for myself. (Ⅲ)

4 次の英文を読んで、1 から 5 までの問いに答えなさい。

It was five years ago, but I still remember that Christmas day. Before that day, I believed Santa Claus lived in this world. I believed so because he gave me a nice present every year and my parents always said, “Santa comes because he loves you.” But on that day, I understood there was no Santa. I was not sad to know ① that, but I was very happy.

I joined a photo club when I entered junior high school. But I didn't have my own camera. My friend had a nice camera and said to me, “Why don't you ask your father to buy you a camera?” (I) I knew my family was not rich. Also, I just wanted to stay away from my father. So ② I didn't ask him. (II) On Christmas Eve, I wrote a letter:

Dear Santa,

I'm afraid you won't come this year because I don't think you love me. I'm a (A) girl because I stay away from my father. I don't know why I'm like that. I want to change myself, but I can't. I feel winter is staying in my heart and spring will never come.

Emily

The next day, I found a present with a card:

Dear Emily,

I know you are a (B) girl. I want you to know winter never stays in the same place. I always love you, Emily.

Santa Claus

I was very happy to get the kind words and the present, I opened the box and found a camera. “Oh, Santa! How did you know I wanted a camera?” I was so (C) that I began to dance with it. Then, a small piece of paper fell from it. I picked up the paper and found something on it — the name of a store in my town and my father’s name. It was a warranty card for the camera my father bought.

After a few minutes, I understood everything. (III) I also remembered his eyes were always (D) when he looked at me. I said in a small voice, “I found another Santa who loves me most. I feel (③).
